What we do with your anonymous information

| How does Sirius XM collect my anonymous information? | We automatically receive certain types of anonymized information about you whenever you interact with us through an Internet browser, your mobile device, or through an enabled receiver. This information includes: the pages you view on the Site, the search terms you enter, your IP address, the operating system, browser software and Internet service provider you use, and your geographical location. This information may also include, but is not limited to: the channels you tune to, the shows and the music you listen to, the amount of time you spend listening, the actions you take to pause, skip, change channels, the choices you make to personalize your channels, and the choices you make to download and listen to our catalog of OnDemand shows at a later time. We do this so that we can personalize your listening experience and understand our listeners better, among other things.

We log your activities on our websites, our media player, and through your mobile device through a unique identifier number assigned to your computer or device. We may also log your activities through an enabled receiver. We may track your interactions with our media player, our mobile applications, your use of social media applications to access our media player and our Internet radio mobile applications, access times and listening behavior. From your use of social media applications linked to our Site, linked to our media player, linked to our mobile applications, or linked to an enabled receiver, we may also receive your social media anonymous identifier, or even your personal information, along with your email address, profile information, interests and likes, and or other information (personal or anonymous) which we or the social media platform will specify in advance at the location of collection, but only after you give us the “okay” (or similar consent) to collect it.

We use “cookie” and “cookie”-like features of major browser applications and other data capture mechanisms that allow us to store data about your visit to the Site, your use of our media player, your use of our mobile application through mobile devices, and your use of social media applications to access our media player and mobile applications. A cookie is a text file that is stored on a user’s computer or any Internet-enabled device for record-keeping purposes. We store information that we collect through cookies, log files and other tracking technology.

When you set the “Incognito” mode in our Internet radio mobile application, it will have no effect upon our collection of your listening behavior for your “app” experience; we will continue to collect it but we will not use it for our marketing purposes and will not share it for marketing purposes.

Advertisements. We may from time to time use nonaffiliated ad-serving or other companies to serve ads on the Site and to you on your mobile device. In the process of serving ads, such companies may use cookies, tags, and other electronic tracking methods to collect your anonymous information, and then may use information about your visits to the Site and other websites in order to provide ads on the Site about products and services that may be of interest to you. We may also use nonaffiliated ad-serving or other companies to serve ads to you when you interact with one of our retailer's or advertising agents’ location-based services through your smartphone or other Internet-enabled device, such as in a retail store which sells satellite radios. The information that such agents collect and share with us is anonymous. These agents will know that you expressed an interest in receiving more information about Sirius XM, or that you chose to engage in Interactive Responses, and we or they may send you ads and offers about our hardware and services.

| How does Sirius XM use my anonymous information? | We use the anonymous information we collect from the Service and from the Site and your IP address to administer the Site, improve our goods and the Service, determine how our Service and the Site is being used, identify popular areas of the Site and analyze trends and usage patterns of the Service and the Site, including our mobile Site, in the vehicle, and applications. We may also use your IP address to help diagnose problems with our server. We use your anonymous information for various reasons, including to gauge the effectiveness of our social media efforts and applications, of our media player or Internet radio applications, the Site, to track information for statistical purposes, to personalize your listening experience, and to improve the products and services we provide.

We use the anonymous information we collect from your Interactive Responses and geo-location tools on your computer, mobile device, or on your enabled receiver to respond to your requests for information and to tailor the Service and our communications. This may include our sending you short text messages on your smartphone or other mobile device if you consent or agree to receive them.

Advertisements. We may use your anonymous information to serve you marketing and advertising material online. We may also use it in combination with your personal information. We may from time to time use nonaffiliated ad-serving or other companies to serve ads on the Site and to you on your mobile device through the use of your anonymized information. In the process of serving ads, such companies may use cookies, tags, and other electronic tracking methods to collect even more of your anonymous information, and then may use information about your visits to the Site and other websites in order to provide ads on the Site about products and services that may be of interest to you. By delivering ads on the Site and to you on your mobile device, as well as through online “targeted advertising” (see below), and by the use of cookies, tags and other electronic tracking methods, the ad-server is able to record able to record what ads you have seen or what you were viewing when the ads were delivered. This usage information is combined with other ad delivery information the ad-server has collected. The information that we collect and share with ad-serving technology is anonymous. It does not contain your name, address, telephone number or email address. This anonymous information is used as part of the ad-serving process for reporting, and to select and direct the ads you see online at the Site and other websites not affiliated with Sirius XM.

If you use the “MyControl” feature on our Internet radio media player or our mobile application, when available, we also use the anonymized information we collect from your listening activities to personalize your listening experience.

Other important information

| Targeted Advertising | Online “targeted advertising” (which we used to refer to here as “behavioral advertising”) means the collection of data from a particular computer or device -- including web viewing behaviors over time and across nonaffiliated web sites for the purpose of using such data to predict the user’s preferences or interests and deliver ads to that computer or device based upon preferences or interests inferred from such web viewing behavior. The definition is not intended to include “first party” advertising, where no data is shared with third parties, or “contextual advertising,” which is advertising based on a single visit to a web page, the content of the web page being visited, or a search query. The definition can also include targeted advertising across the various devices you may use to access our Service.

Sirius XM engages in targeted advertising including tracking your online activities on the Site to better serve you information regarding Sirius XM while you are on the Site (i.e., “first party advertising”). We may also serve you information from nonaffiliated advertisers here on the Site.

Advertising Networks. We use service providers to serve ads on our behalf across the Internet, including on third party websites. In our online targeted advertising, non-personal information is collected through the use of pixel tags or cookies, which are industry standard technologies, used by most major websites. No personal information is collected or used in this process. This anonymized information is used as part of the ad-serving process for reporting, and to select and direct the ads you see online at the Site and at nonaffiliated websites. If you would like more information about this practice and to know your choices about not having this anonymous information used by our third-party service providers, please click here or go to www.networkadvertising.org/choices

“Do Not Track” Settings. You may set your web browser tools to not track your activities online. The newest web settings for “Do Not Track” are not responded to directly by this Site at the present time. We have other methods you can use to tell us about your choices, listed here.
Since we use the standard “privacy” feature of major browser applications to store data about your visit to the Site, you may configure your browser to allow cookies to be set on your computer only to the level of your comfort. If you reject all cookies, you may not be able to use certain features of the Site, including setting your favorite channels, storing items in your shopping cart, or entering sweepstakes or contests. If you reject “third party” cookies, you have the greatest ability to opt-out of “contextual advertising” while you are on third party websites. In this way you can control the access Sirius XM has to your anonymous information for targeted advertising.

PLEASE GO TO THIS PAGE, WWW.SIRIUSXM.COM/YOURADCHOICES, TO SEE A LIST OF NONAFFILIATED COMPANIES WHO, IN THE COURSE OF SERVING OR DISPLAYING ADS ON OUR SITE OR APPLICATIONS, MAY PLACE A COOKIE OR OTHER TRACKING DEVICE ON YOUR BROWSER OR MOBILE DEVICE. YOU MAY OPT OUT OF THEIR USES OF COOKIES, COLLECTION OF YOUR INFORMATION AND FURTHER USE OF IT BY VISITING EACH OF THEIR PRIVACY POLICIES AND FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS THERE.

We also use outside ad-serving companies to serve ads to you when you interact with one of the location-based services used by retailers or our advertising agents recognized by your mobile device, such as in a retail store which sells satellite radios. The information that such agents collect and share with us is anonymous. These agents will know that you expressed an interest in receiving more information about Sirius XM, or that you chose to engage in Interactive Responses, and we or they may serve you ads and offers.

We may retain your personal information and anonymous information to fulfill our business purposes and may require our ad serving companies to do the same. We have in place reasonable security measures for the data about your online activities, and require our ad serving companies to do the same. These protections are appropriate to the sensitivity of the data we’ve collected, the nature of our business operations, and the types of risks faced by Sirius XM.

“Tracking” Your Activities Across Devices, and Apps.
You may use multiple devices to access the Service, such as a vehicle radio, a smartphone, a personal computer at home, a tablet, a wearable device, or even a television. More than one device can be associated with you as a user or with your household. Cross-device identification can potentially include anything that gives off a signal. Completing the opt-out process on one device will not cause you to be opted out of targeted advertising collection and use on other devices attributed to you or your family. Your choice of “do not track” must be exercised on each device separately.

Mobile app opt-outs do not affect cookie-based data, while browser-based opt-outs do not affect mobile app and cross-app data. Also, mobile app opt-outs are limited to a specific device, while browser-based opt-outs are limited to a specific browser. In addition, choice mechanisms may be presented to you, as you move about the web, but they will be limited to the companies participating in any particular program.

The Digital Advertising Alliance (“DAA”) has made available for consumers tools on which you can register your choices not to be tracked by participating advertising networks or companies in the collection and use of your online activities. These are (1) The DAA Consumer Choice Page for Mobile Web (at http://www.aboutads.info/choices/) and (2) DAA AppChoices (at http://www.aboutads.info/appchoices/), which is a mobile app that allows you to opt out of the collection and use of cross-app data, other than for permitted uses, by listed third-party AppChoices participants. You have the ability to opt out of mobile-app targeted advertising ads from any or all of the listed participating advertising networks. You can download the free mobile app from an app store available on your mobile platform. When you opt out with a particular participating advertising network, the mobile app adds your device identifier to that participant’s opt-out list. The participant advertising network is then notified to block the device identifiers on the opt-out list.

DISCLAIMER: WE DISCLAIM THE ACCURACY AND RELIABILITY OF THIRD-PARTY NOTICES AND CHOICE MECHANISMS. WE DISCLAIM RESPONSIBILITY FOR NONCOMPLIANCE OF OTHERS.

Cookies, Generally
We use both session ID cookies and persistent cookies. We use session ID cookies to make it easier for you to navigate the Site. A session ID cookie expires when you close your browser. A persistent cookie remains on your hard drive for an extended period of time. You can remove persistent cookies by following directions provided in your Internet browser’s “help” file. Persistent cookies are used to differentiate users of the Site from subscribers, to customize the content of certain sections of the Site and to enable us to track and cater to the interests of users, in order to enhance their experience on the Site. Cookies help us learn which areas of the Site are useful and which areas need improvement. We do not use cookies or other data capture mechanisms to collect any personal information about you.

<th>Internet-enabled Devices</th>
<th>Our online media player which you use to listen to our Internet radio service uses Macromedia's Adobe Flash Player. In the Adobe Flash Player Global Privacy Settings menu is a cautionary statement that we may have access to the camera and microphone of your Internet-enabled device. The Flash Player advises you that websites such as ours must ask your permission before using your camera or microphone. Sirius XM does not access or use your camera or microphone, even if you select “Allow” in the Adobe Flash Player settings.</th>

<td>- Adobe Flash Player Access to Camera and Microphone</td>
<td>Sirius XM uses Flash cookies. “Flash cookies” are a form of persistent cookies technically called “Local Shared Objects” (LSOs). Flash cookies set an LSO to track your use of the Site. This tracking and storage can occur even after you have deleted your browser cookies or opted-out of network advertising. This tracking sets two cookies on your computer—a standard cookie and a Flash cookie, as described below. Flash cookies are set through a mechanism in Macromedia’s Adobe and Flash MX players and, according to Macromedia, 98% of computer users have some version of Flash on their computers. Flash cookies can be considered to be equivalent to “normal” web cookies, except for a few minor differences. With Flash cookies your data is stored in multiple places and it is restored once you delete it. Normal web cookies can be managed via the preferences dialog of most web browsers, but no similar utility for managing Flash cookies is included in most web browsers. It is possible for Flash cookies to remain on your computer indefinitely because an expiration date cannot be set for them. As with normal web cookies, a website that placed the Flash cookie can only access data that it captured; it is not allowed to read Flash cookies created by other websites. This prevents Sirius XM from observing your behavior at other websites. To prevent new Flash cookies from being placed by us, you can adjust your preferences on a per website basis in the Macromedia Website Privacy Settings Panel. Using this tool, Flash cookies can be completely disabled or allowed on a per website basis. Macromedia has published a walk through guide to help users disable Flash cookies.</td>

<td>To delete current Flash cookies and their tracking information, just go to the correct folder in your directories and delete them. Flash cookies are organized in folders according to the website that placed them and are stored in a special directory depending on the operating system on your computer. They are arranged in directories according to the website that placed them on the computer (look for a file with a .SOL extension): For example, Windows C:\Documents and Settings[username]\Application Data\Macromedia\Flash Player or Macintosh OS X /Users/[username]/Library/Preferences/Macromedia/Flash Player. Firefox users can use Objection, a recently developed extension that adds an LSO deletion tool to Firefox preferences.</td>

<td>Sirius XM uses HTML5 or “Media Stamp” technology provided by Ringleader Digital, another form of collection, tracking and storage which does not rely on traditional browser cookies. HTML5 has a local storage feature that, when used, allows for quicker access to a website upon a return visit. While HTML5 is still undergoing development by the providers of this software, it is currently supported by a large percentage of mobile devices. Sirius XM programming is available on Internet-enabled devices. We use HTML5 as a substitute for traditional cookies that often do not function well on mobile devices. Like Flash cookies, HTML5 cookies are not stored in a browser “cookies” file, and, like Flash cookies, can be used to track users across websites. There is currently no known way for a user of a mobile device to remove HTML5 tracking and storage.</td>

<td>We may automatically collect information about you when you have geographical location (“geo-location”) tools on your Internet-enabled device as well as when you use an enabled receiver, or permit another person to do so. The geo-location tools on your enabled receiver may not be disabled. We may also collect information about you whenever you deliberately interact with one of our ads containing a quick response (“QR”) code, follow instructions to send a text, visit a URL, or when you otherwise interact with our agents’ location-based services through retail store visits or through your smartphone or other Internet-enabled device (referred to here as “Interactive Responses”). If you have geo-location tools on your Internet-enabled device which you have not disabled, we automatically receive information on your device's location and may use it to comply with our contractual arrangements which restrict our sending certain programming channels outside of defined areas, such as when you want to listen to our Internet radio service while in another country. When you use Interactive Responses, our retailer and advertising agents will know that you're interested in receiving information about Sirius XM, and they may send you ads and offers about our hardware and services.</td>

You may have the power to take control of how your telecommunications provider and providers of "applications" on your mobile device track your physical location. However, Sirius XM must track that you are attempting to use the Service while you are outside of the United States and from a mobile device. If you disable the geo-location tools on your device and no other method of determining your location is available to us to determine that you are within our Service Area (e.g., IP address), then you will not have access to the geographically restricted channels on your Internet-enabled devices regardless of your location.

Giveaway Promotions or Surveys

From time to time we may provide you the opportunity to participate in a sweepstakes, contest, in-studio event, giveaway, survey, or other promotion, which might be sponsored or conducted by Sirius XM or by third parties. If you participate, we will request certain personal information from you. Participation in these promotions is completely voluntary and you will have a choice whether or not to disclose this information. The requested information typically includes contact information. Except as explained otherwise in the Official Rules for a particular promotion, such as in a paragraph entitled “Privacy Notice”, any personal information you provide will be used in accordance with this Privacy Policy. If there is a third party involved, please make sure to review their privacy policy. In addition, from time to time you may be able to participate in our surveys to help us improve the Service. Except as may be explained otherwise in that survey, any personal information so collected will be used only in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

Please make a note of the Effective Date of this Privacy Policy. We may revise and update this Privacy Policy at any time without notice for any or no reason, including if our practices change, if technology changes, or as we add new services or change existing ones. These privacy practices apply to past, current and potential future subscribers who purchase and use our products and services.
